

ENDING VIOLENCE IS MEN'S WORK

THE ManKind Project U S A

THE MANKIND PROJECT HELPS MEN WAKE UP, GROW UP, AND SHOW UP FOR THE WORLD.

Unhealthy masculinity is at the root of most societal violence. Men are standing up to break the chains and end the cycles of violence that destroy our communities. The world needs conscious, loving, powerful and compassionate men as partners, role models, leaders and allies.

The ManKind Project is a personal development organization creating positive cultural impact. Our men's circles teach and practice emotional maturity, accountability, personal responsibility, and relationship skills. We help men break out of rigid gender roles and model a new way of being for conscious men. These men take action with others to help heal some of our society's deepest wounds.

Men Say NO MORE to Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault - No More March May 31 on Cape Cod Hyannis, MA

The ManKind Project USA, Cape and Islands Community, with the collaboration of Independence House are hosting a Men's March on May 31st at 1:00pm for men and boys joining together saying "NO MORE" to domestic violence and sexual assault. Groups and Organizations invited to attend and take a stand for ending violence.

Hyannis, MA (PRWEB) May 08, 2015

Individual men, businesses, civic organizations, police, fire, houses of worship, clubs and more are invited to march from the Hyannis Youth and Community Center through the Main Street District and returning back to the Community Center for a post-March rally to benefit the Independence House.

Special guest speakers will include Boysen Hodgson, Director of Marketing and Communication for the ManKind Project USA; Rev. Steve Cordry from the Cape Cod Interfaith Coalition; The Cape and Island's District Attorney's Office; Lysetta Hurge Putnam, Executive Director of Independence House, and more. Proceeds from the March will benefit Independence House's work supporting survivors and ending domestic violence and sexual assault.

Says Boysen Hodgson, "Men in our culture largely don't have the experience of healthy male community. Many men don't know how they fit in, they feel disconnected from themselves and each other ... and so what we get is what we see in the news every day." He continued, "The good news is that growing numbers of men are doing the hard personal and societal work needed to end the violence that unhealthy masculinity promotes. At the ManKind Project, we support men in healing themselves, and we stand up as partners to help change our culture."

The ManKind Project USA is a national 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization with a mission of supporting men to act on their individual and shared responsibility for the future of humanity by initiating and supporting them on a path of emotional maturity, spiritual awareness and deepening community.

Brian Renard, Chairman for the March and member of the Mankind Project states, "the March is to bring together men and start conversations about what we can do to be part of the solution in ending domestic violence and sexual assault". Brian also indicated the importance of connecting men to thriving groups. "We want to have a strong show of organized groups, offering men who don't otherwise connect, opportunities to be part of healthy community organizations."

Registration for the March can be found online at <https://indhous.ejoinme.org/march>. Suggested donations are $20 to march. Boys under 18 March for free.

"NO MORE" is a public awareness and engagement campaign focused on ending domestic violence and sexual assault, aligned with hundreds of organizations working at the local, state and national levels on prevention, advocacy, and services for survivors.

Independence House, Inc. is Cape Cod's leading resource, counseling and advocacy center to address and prevent domestic and sexual violence.
